Effective Date: Immediately

Fannie Mae recently released a new Condo Project Manager (CPM) platform. CPM now includes a new project status: "Approved by Fannie Mae". U.S. Bank is adopting the following policy to address projects with the Fannie Mae Approval status.

Non-Delegated

U.S. Bank will consider projects with the Approved by Fannie Mae Status however, the project will require either a Limited/Streamlined or Full Review based on the transaction eligibility.

Delegated

May deliver loans to U.S. Bank with the "Approved by Fannie Mae" status as follows:

- Project must not be on U.S. Bank Review Project List as Declined for either agency
- The project must meet Agency requirements
- The Project Type Code must be "T" Approved By Fannie Mae
- The CPM status must be "approved" as of the date of the Note
- The Loan file must include a copy of the CPM approval

Delegated for Streamlined / Limited Review

May deliver loans to U.S. Bank with the "Approved by Fannie Mae" status as follows:

- The project must meet Agency requirements
- The Project Type Code must be "T" Approved By Fannie Mae
- The CPM status must be "approved" as of the date of the Note
- The loan file must include a copy of the CPM Approval

Full Project Reviews must be submitted to U.S. Bank consistent with current policy.

Project Approvals

- Established projects will expire when the insurance expires or up to 1 year whichever is less.
- New or Newly Converted projects will expire when the insurance expires or up to six (6) months whichever is less.
- Extension requests will require a new Certificate of Insurance and review of CPM status at the time the updated insurance is reviewed. Extensions may be granted up to six (6) months or 1-year from the original approval date based on the project type.

In U.S. Bank's SEL-2022-030, U.S. Bank announced that for VA loans, effective with Correspondent locks and/or relocks and HFA Reservations on and after June 22, 2022, we would allow seller concessions to include gifts and payoff of credit balances or judgements on behalf of the buyer.

As a point of clarification, we have modified the language as shown in green below:

U.S. Bank will allow seller concessions to include payment of VA funding fee, gifts and payoff of credit balances or judgements on behalf of the buyer.

Seller concessions do not include payment of buyers' closing costs, or normal discount points. Any seller concessions exceeding four percent of the appraised value is considered excessive and unacceptable by VA.

We are clarifying our Portfolio Guidelines as indicated below in green:

Reserve/Cash Reserve/Secured Funds for Down Payment and Closing Costs

Reserve assets are defined as funds (depository accounts, stocks, bonds, mutual funds, securities) that are liquid or readily convertible to cash and can be done so absent retirement or job termination (up to 100% of the vested amount). Reserves must be the borrower's own funds that are satisfactorily sources. Reserves are measured by the number of months of monthly housing expense [Principal, Interest, Taxes, Insurance and Association Fee (PITIA)], inclusive of both first and second lien loans and lines of credit, that a borrower could pay using his or her financial assets. The monthly housing expense payment is the actual payment on a loan, not the qualifying payment calculated for underwriting purposes, and the qualifying payment on a Home Equity Line of Credit (HELOC).

Gift funds are not allowed to meet the borrower reserve requirement.

For a refinance mortgage, the cash-out proceeds from the subject cash-out refinance transaction and any cash back received on a no cash-out refinance transaction are not an eligible source of funds for reserves.
